

Parade and Queen Crowning Opens Big Three-Day Powwow

Entertainment of Highest Type on Bill

Everything is set for the grand opening of Powwow this (Thursday) evening when the big parade starts on its march from Massachusetts and Broadway east to Washington street.

The Review is printed Thursday afternoon, but does not get into the hands of its readers until Friday, therefore we are unable to print the awards for the parade, nor the name of the Queen to be crowned on the stage immediately following the completion of the parade.

Two full days of entertainment await the throngs who will visit the Powwow grounds on Imperial just north of Broadway Friday and Saturday.

The stage is erected opposite the Grove Theatre parking lot, and booths surround the lot, where various organizations are conducting games or have articles for sale.

Profits from the Powwow go into a fund for recreational facilities for Lemon Grove.

The Queen contestants have been royally entertained during the past week. They have been taken on tours to cafes, clubs and other places of amusement.

Tuesday evening they were guests of the Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club at the Padres-Portland ball game, and were introduced. Tuesday was Lemon Grove night at the ball park, and a section back of the home plate was reserved for local people. Several hundred attended. Al Ross presented a cowboy hat to Del Baker, Padre manager, on behalf of the Powwow and Kiwanis Club. Ray Blair, KSDD Emcee, broadcast the announcement of the Powwow.

Powwow also got a break through the Heaven on Earth Club with a write up and broadcast.

Lemon Grove is prepared to play the host to thousands Friday and Saturday.

The Powwow committee of the Monterey Heights Civic group has found it necessary to withdraw their booth from the Powwow. They are grateful to merchants and others who had donated articles.

The Association will meet Monday evening to make further plans for the recreation park. All Monterey Heights citizens are invited and urged to be present.

Represent Y's Men at Mexico City

Art Blomendahl, president of the local Y's Mens Club, will fly to Mexico City next Tuesday to represent the club at the International convention to be held from August 22 to 29.

There will be 150 delegates from Southern California.

Hi. Neighbor by Mac Res Graham

The first casualty of the war in Korea of this community which has been reported to us, happened last Sunday when Lieut. Ross Lockhart passed away on his ship, thousands of miles from home.

We read of these casualties in the newspaper every day and we casually remark "How terrible!"

But we do not really sense all the heart break, the suffering, the sacrifice back of it all until it comes home.

Interviewing and visiting with the grief stricken wife and mother brings before us the endless chain of such tragedies that have been going on for years upon years.

And for what? Thirty or more years ago, we said "To make the world safe for democracy."

Ten years ago we had a war which was to end all wars.

And now, because leaders of nations, who craved self-glory refused to listen to men trained in military services and foreign observations, we start all over again to feed our young men, the cream of our nation, to the war monster.

Mistakes are human but if men in high positions in our Nation haven't the intelligence to listen to the warning of students of foreign affairs, it is high time they are removed from office by impeachment and replaced by statesmen of vision.

Lt. Ross Moore Lockhart Passes of Heart Ailment

A message was received Monday by Mrs. R. M. Lockhart, 1815 Dayton Ave., that her husband Lt. Ross Moore Lockhart, U.S.N. had passed away on Sunday of a heart attack while on duty on the U.S.S. Wiltzie, a destroyer somewhere near Korea.

According to letters received by Mrs. Lockhart from her husband recently, the attack was brought on by exertion from overwork and intense heat. He had always been of strong physique but had been worried that he could not stand up under the long hours of terrific strain.

Lt. Lockhart, having served 20 years in the Navy, was ready for retirement but could not be released. He was home on leave and left with his ship on July 7.

The Lockharts came here from Long Beach two years ago and purchased the lovely home in Monterey Heights.

He was born on August 11, 1911, in Pine Bluffs, Ark., and on August 11, 1943, was married in Boston, Mass., to Miss Frieda Greenastel. To this union were born two darling little boys, William, aged 3 years, and Dennis, one and a half years old.

Lt. Lockhart was a devoted husband and father and had looked forward to the time when he could stay with his little family.

Mrs. Lockhart's father, Bruno Greenastel, and sister, Miss Evelyn Greenastel, are here for a time.

The Lieutenant's body will be sent back on the first transport and services will be held with interment in Fort Rosecrans cemetery.

Mrs. Lockhart has the sympathy of this community in her grief and great sacrifice.

USE "DATES CLAIMED"

The "Dates Claimed" at the bottom of page 1 is for the benefit of organizations having special events, which they wish to announce. If all will co-operate in listing dates, it will save one date conflicting with another.

L. A. Gock, Pres., L. A. C. of C.—"Since we demand that our troops in the field display the greatest fortitude, at least some measure of fortitude should be displayed on the home front—every American should insist that we 'pay-as-we-go'."

Tanny Bemis is Derby Winner

The third annual Cub Scout Jalopy Derby drew a large audience last Sunday afternoon on Glencoe Hill.

Twenty-eight sleek, shiny cars were steered by as many hopeful drivers, each one intent on winning. There were two divisions of entries as some of the drivers were Boy Scouts.

Tanny Bemis, No. 2, sponsored by Broadway Auto Supply, won first in the Cub Scout division, with Bobby Foster, No. 4, Lemon Grove Kiwanis, in second place.

Richard Dedrick, No. 15, sponsored by the Grove Theatre, took first place in Boy Scout class with Kenneth Stratton, No. 20, J. A. Holstrom, building contractor, second.

John van Gilse, of the Grove Theatre, will furnish the fish for a fish fry for the participants and their sponsors, at Community Center, in the near future.

Cub Scout No. 8 will meet next Friday evening at Community Center for a postponed meeting. Merit badges will be awarded.

Site Selected for the New Fire Station

The former Educational Unit of the Baptist Church on Central avenue is going to be the new fire station.

The Lemon Grove Fire Protection District is going to purchase the building for a home for the new fire truck and other fire fighting equipment.

Bids will be opened on Wednesday, September 6, for the new truck, and it is understood that a truck can be delivered within 90 days after purchase.

The old church building is to be remodeled to fire district specifications before it is turned over to the district.

The station, as remodeled, will provide a room for the truck, sleeping quarters for the firemen and an auditorium, as well as hose drying racks and other arrangements pertinent to a modern fire station.

This building, located on Central avenue, near School Lane, is approximately in the center of the district.

The San Diego County Planning Commission held a hearing last Friday and rezoned the property so that it could be used by the district.

Serious Brush Fires Raging

The skies have been darkened several times this week by serious brush fires to the north and east of Lemon Grove, where several thousand acres have been burned over.

Dry weather is making grass and brush a real fire hazard during this hot weather, and many valuable watersheds are being damaged by loss of grass to hold the top soil in place when the heavy rains come.

It is no part of the American idea of equality that men should be leveled down, but rather that they should be leveled up.—Ralph Barton Perry.

Two Local Issues Will Go on November Ballot

San Diego County Board of Supervisors have approved requests to place on the November election ballot a bond issue for a new juvenile hall and a proposition to separate the registrar of voters from the county clerk's office.

The request for the bond issue came from the County Probation Committee. The action by supervisors was to ask counsel to prepare the necessary papers for placing the bond issue before the electorate in November. The vote was 4 to 1, Dean Howell dissenting.

Supervisors asked counsel to confer with the Public Works Department regarding the amount of the issue. A. H. Campion, chief administrative officer, estimated this would be about one million dollars.

In November, 1948, the voters defeated a $500,000 bond issue for a new juvenile hall to replace the "inadequate" Anthony Detention Home. Campaign today explained state funds no longer are available and costs have increased.

County Clerk T. H. Sexton has suggested a vote by the people on separating the registrar of voters from the clerk's office. Supervisors, by unanimous vote, asked counsel to prepare a charter amendment for the ballot. This would make the registrar an appointive office. The clerk is elective.

Lex Lord, registrar of voters, has his offices in the County Operations Center and former Convoir Plant II, while Sexton's offices are in the Court House. This makes it impossible for Sexton "to give the time required for proper supervision" of the registrar's office, he said.

Local Fisherman Bitten by Shark

Bob Bottini, 2585 Cypress, tuna fisherman on the Mary Barbara, a Sun Harbor Co. boat, located far down off the Mexican coast, narrowly escaped with his life about two weeks ago when an over-size tuna on his line pulled him overboard.

Bob's companions pulled him back on the boat but as they were doing so a man-eating shark took a bite out of Bob's left thigh. The wound, 10 inches wide extended down his leg about 20 inches and only missed by one-fourth inch severing the main artery.

The Mary Lou, tuna fishing boat, standing near by, furnished plasma for blood transfusions.

Bob was taken to Merced Hospital in San Salvador where for three days nurses and doctors fought valiantly to save his life.

Last Monday, Ray Knox, a fishing partner started back with Bob on a Western Airplane. Laying over in Mexico City that night they reached Lindberg Field Tuesday evening.

He was taken to Navy Hospital where doctors are hoping he will be ready for plastic surgery in six weeks' time. However, it will take about three months before he will be up and around. His doctors assure him the injury will not result in lameness.

Bob and his wife live near his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Bottini, 7755 Palm. He has been fishing since 1941 except for three years in the Navy in World War II. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Watches Subject of Kiwanis Talk

Carl Bowman gave a talk on watches at Kiwanis Club Monday noon at Community Center. He said there was no such thing as a shock proof watch nor a water proof watch. They were shock resistant and water repellant, and now were so advertised due to orders from the Federal Bureau of Standards.

He said there are only three watch manufacturers in the United States today, that all other watches came from Switzerland. However, he excluded the cheap "dollar" watches in this statement, "as they are not watches from a jeweler's standpoint."

The Queen contestants were guests of the club for luncheon and were introduced.

Start New Homes on Golf Course

First dirt for a group of 231 new homes will be turned next Monday on the old golf course at the east edge of town.

Brookside, the main thoroughfare through the new subdivision, will start on the east side of Imperial at Dexter drive and traverse the length of the tract to near the old dam.

Eventually more than 400 houses will be built on the tract by the Hobart Homes Co.

The tract will be annexed to the Lemon Grove Sanitation District.

Air Raid Warning Service Meeting

Mr. Baxter has called another meeting for next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in Community Center, which citizens of Lemon Grove are urgently requested to attend.

Teenagers Meet Friday, Aug. 25

The next Teenagers meeting will be on Friday evening, August 25, at Community Center.

The organization is progressing nicely, and several interesting events are planned, announced I. J. Leone, who is in charge of the group.

All teen age folks not connected with any other teenage group, are urged to attend these meetings.

There was a good attendance at the last Friday evening meeting, Mr. Leone reports.

BRUSH FIRE

A brush fire in the 6900 block on Ensenada burned over a fourth acre Monday afternoon shortly after 5 o'clock, before it was brought under control by the Forestry fire fighters. The fire was just back of the Monterey Heights Recreation Park and looked for a time as though it might reach that area.

Education is Big Business in Lemon Grove

That Public School business is big business in Lemon Grove will be shown by the number of teachers employed and the number in the administrative department.

However, the list does not represent the number of persons needed on the faculty nor in the offices for all are taking on extra duties to keep expenses down to a minimum.

The problem of finding room for last year's pupils in the three schools was a headache, but this year is a greater one due to the increase in population. No other district in San Diego County has a bigger problem.

Then there is the problem of getting the pupils to and from school in only two school buses.

Supt. Byron L. Metzler, who has been with Lemon Grove School District for 10 years has the following assistants:

Mrs. Rita Von Meeden, secretary, third year.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE ISN'T POLITICAL

The urgent necessity for intelligent civilian defense planning to cope with the dangers inherent in the present emergency cannot be denied. The exact nature of that planning, should be about the last question that partisan politics should seize on as a political issue, and it is shameful to find that some candidates for public office in California have done so.

The major responsibility for building and co-ordinating adequate civilian defense programs lies with local communities. Fortunately, the mayors of most California cities are resolutely assuming that responsibility, taking the initiative in developing workable plans and seeking the co-operation and advice of military authorities.

In the final analysis, of course, the only real defense of our coastal cities and towns is dependent on our ability to build our military defenses as rapidly and efficiently as it is humanly possible to do. Only the interception of enemy plans can prevent the dropping of atom bombs. Proper civilian defense planning must be geared to supplement military planning. Its success depends on unity of effort, and in no sense should it be allowed to become a political issue.

50 WILL BUY U. S. 400

Would you spend a nickel to make 40 cents?

It seems that the purchase cost of all the surplus dried eggs, butter, dried milk, cheese, prunes, raisins, turkeys, beans and other perishable foodstuffs the Government has cached away in caves and warehouses all across the country, was 400 million dollars. To package and distribute it to our fast-burgeoning armed services would cost an additional 50 million dollars.

If something isn't done with the stuff soon, much of it will rot. But Government experts are loathe to spend the 50 to save the 400 because the armed services normally buy in the open market and it is feared that their sudden withdrawal as food customers would depress the market.

At this point in the discussion we part company with the Government experts. With the price of just about everything on the grocery shelves zooming, isn't a check on inflation spree just the very thing we need? We're spending 50 to make 400—especially if it would help hold the line on the cost of food for everybody.

Political Parade

CLEM WHITAKER, Jr.

In a hectic, nerve-racking week-end session, California's four recognized political parties have decided in separate meetings in Sacramento what their platforms for submission to the voters will be.

On the issue of U. S. and UN action in Korea, with one exception party ranks were solidly in backing whatever steps are necessary. The Independent Progressive Party—like Russia's Mr. Malik—was solid in its condemnation of "trigger happy (American) soldiers killing both North and South Koreans." Everyone else was content to stick to the facts and back the United Nations.

In the light of world conditions, the Independent Progressive Party platform is of considerable interest. Roughly 200 IPPers who attended that party convention went to town in denouncing the United States action in Korea and generally following the Soviet line. The group sent a telegram to Washington objecting to the jailing of Harry Bridges and then named him to membership of the national party committee. Jailing of the "Hollywood 10" also was denounced. And in the way of legislation, the IPP platform supported compulsory health insurance, public power, federal control of the tidelands, Senate reapportionment, State rent control, public housing, the Brannan farm plan and aid infirmity. Most all of the measures which are part and parcel of totalitarian government were squeezed in somewhere.

As to the two major parties: Chief plank in the Democratic Party platform call for repeal of the State's cross-filing system; defeat of the gambling scheme, Proposition No. 6 on the November ballot; enactment of an FEPC measure; a stricter lobby law; State rent control; repeal of the Taft Hartley Act;

Statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, price controls, an expanded civilian defense program; permanent child care centers; opposition to Communism with protection of civil liberties; and appointment of a committee to develop a plan for State Government streamlining.

The Republican Party platform, also calling for defeat of the gambling scheme, Proposition No. 6, had as its chief points full enforcement of the Subversive Registration Act; support of civil rights; State, not federal, ownership of the tidelands; improvement of the old age pension system; continued conservation and development of the State's natural resources of water, power, timber and soil under State jurisdiction and control; reduced governmental costs and equitable apportionment of taxes; development of employment and continued attention to the needs of labor; an expanded highway system; and slum clearance and urban redevelopment programs.

Major plank of the Prohibition Party, naturally, was re-enactment of prohibition.

These then are the issues candidates for office at the November 7 General Election will support if they support the party with which they are affiliated. It is for these issues as well as for candidates of the various parties that the electorate will be asked to vote.

Sparks

FROM THE NEWS CIRCUIT
JAMES DORAIS

Rainmaking, it appears, is fast emerging from the hare-brained project category and the realm of superstition.

The Navajo Indians, who for centuries relied on ceremonial rites to induce moisture from the summer skies, have abandoned tradition and engaged the services of a professional Phoenix rainmaker who seeds clouds from an airplane.

A new Southern California enterprise, Water Resources Development Corporation, is having widespread success with "rain-increase" projects which involve transporting silver-iodide smoke generators into parched regions, and setting them into operation at the approach of a likely looking storm.

Not long ago the services of the Pasadena firm were engaged by a large New Mexico rancher in an area where practically no rain had fallen all year. Generators were set up just in time to go to work on a big storm sweeping in from the Pacific and are credited with the release of 3.8 inches of rainfall over the target area.

Air observers, flying over the section a week later, reported that the land in the seeded area was an enormous green oasis in a desert of parched brown fields. Stockmen in southeastern Colorado also signed with the corporation recently after a long period of drought had brought about severe losses to the region. Here the generators were set up but not operated immediately. Not wanting to waste its ammunition on the few local clouds that appeared in the sky, the company waited for days until Nature came through with storm clouds from the West. The wait was fruitful, for precipitation was as high as six inches in the seeded area.

The legal aspects of rainmaking are still very much in doubt.

Two years ago, Savannah, Georgia threatened lawsuit against the Federal Government because experimentation by the Air Force had changed the course of a hurricane.

As far as possible arguments over pirating rainfall are concerned, however, it is generally conceded that landowners would have a difficult time proving that rain would have fallen on their land if a rainmaker hadn't milked the clouds dry a few miles to windward.

Thirty-five years ago San Diego hired an early day rainmaker, Charles M. Hatfield, to experiment with chemicals in the dry hills above the city. While Mr. Hatfield was experimenting, a downpour of torrential proportions occurred. A dam burst, several people were drowned, and damage suits totaling a half-million dollars were filed. The courts, however, thought very slightly of Mr. Hatfield's participation in the holocaust and declared the storm, instead, an act of God.

Today's rainmakers are more highly regarded. The cities of San Diego and Santa Barbara, both perennially short of water, have entered into contracts with Water Resources Development Corporation. Hatfield the rainmaker and the half-million dollar storm still haven't been forgotten, however, for San Diego first took the precaution of buying a large damage insurance policy.

Talks and Walks With Mother Nature

BY TRIXIE TREGANZA

Thrust of Shovel Turns Back Time 1500 Years; Clam Shells Tell Tale; San Juan Spring Reveals old Secrets.

On San Juan Island, a California scientist with one thrust of his shovel slipped back 1,500 years into a cool, dark mystery of long ago. Dr. Alan E. Treganza stripped to the waist in a sunbaked ditch, exposed a stone-lined under ground spring which instantly began to bubble cold, cold drinking water at the rate of a gallon a minute.

The shovel of clam shells, animal bone splinters and black humus revealed what must have been the watering place of the earliest inhabitants. The ancient well is marked by the yellow glacial soil which must have been the first earth trod by local man.

Dr. Treganza, San Francisco College Scientist, heads a field party of University of Washington students which is excavating the site. He believes it dates back to 450 A. D. A more accurate date may be fixed after other scientists analyze deposits of charcoal taken from the San Juan diggings. This will entail measurements of the radioactivity of remaining amounts of Carbon 14, an isotope of carbon which decays at a specific rate. However, Dr. Treganza judges the approximate age by the number of clamshells in this Indian garbage dump. Studies in California give a good, approximate yardstick for dating such kitchen middens.

The archeologist and his student assistants chose this summer site because of the high ridge of shells bordering the beach and the numerous piles of beach stones which dot the wooded uplands. As they suspected, the stone cairns mark Indian graves. Tiny Gus Island in the center of the bay is littered with fragments of human bones fallen from trees where Indian custom once placed the dead. There are also numerous ground burials on the island. Dr. Treganza believes that the earlier people settled on Garrison Bay, living there the year round. This summer's digging has unearthed the bones of deer and other animals of all ages. This indicates Garrison Bay was not simply a seasonal hunting or fishing camp but a permanent village where the people lived on whatever food was seasonably available. Bones of fawns and adult deer have been found.

The most recent Puget Sound natives to inhabit the area were the Salish Indians. Caught between encroachment of the Hudson Bay Company and British marines who erected their fort on Garrison Bay just before the Civil War, the Salish Indians abandoned the site.

facts, man made products, include things which local inhabitants fashioned and things which they obtained by trade with other native tribes or visiting white men. The archeologists can pretty well fix the age of the various implements by noting in which layer of clam shells they are found. Successive generations covered the older layers.

But the rock-lined spring poses the mystery of San Juan's earliest man. He knew enough to impound the water; he used clams for food. His physical appearance must await discovery of graves of that time, and so far Dr. Treganza has not uncovered the older graves—if they exist. Perhaps the oldest man also used the trees for cemeteries.

A strangely decorated bone wedge, foreign to local Indians may be a clue to San Juan's early inhabitants.

Editor's Note: Dr. Alan Treganza, son of the writer of this article, Mrs. A. O. Treganza, is a native of Lemon Grove, alumnus of Grossmont, San Diego State and University of California. He received his degree of Doctor of Philosophy at Berkeley in June.

How to Meet Problems of Met Has Bing Bewitched, Bothered

By BILLY ROSE

A New York paper recently carried the following dispatch from Paris:

Rudolf Bing, new general manager of the Metropolitan Opera House, said today that he had come to Europe on the biggest talent search in operatic history.

Asked about the offer last year of Billy Rose, Broadway producer and columnist, to take over the Met and make it pay, Mr. Bing asked:

"Who's he?"

When reminded of Rose's identity, the impresario laughed and added:

"The problems of the Met will never be solved by Broadway methods."

Judging from the above, it's evident that Mr. Bing has a sense of humor and, as Groucho Marx once said, if there's anything I like in a man or an opera director it's a sense of humor.

But on the off-chance that some folks may have missed the hilarious overtones of the Roddy's remarks, perhaps I ought to translate them and let everybody in on the joke.

Billy Rose

FIRST OFF, our Viennese friend wants us to know that he is in Europe on what he modestly calls "the biggest talent search in operatic history." An admirable undertaking, but seeing as how the Herr Direktor recently put Kirsten Flagstad on the Met payroll, the natural question is whether the talent he's looking for is in the tonsil or treason department.

A second question, equally natural, is why Mr. Bing doesn't take this country for talent before taking his eyes and caradoms to the Continent. After all, when a gent with threadbare spats is imported to boss our No. 1 opera house and hand out plenty of steak and salary for so doing, it would seem the part of good public relations for him to first give the home talent a careful look-listen.

It may very well be that the larynxes in Philadelphia, Germany, are superior to those in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, but you can't prove it by Marian Anderson.

Next we come to Roddy's side-splitting "Who dat?" when asked about me. When you come right down to it, there's no reason why Mr. B should ever have heard his or hosannah of an American producer who has spent the last quar-been stationed in Germany for three years and four months. Friday evening his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Royce of National City, entertained at a family dinner as a farewell courtesy.

The Golden Circle Class of First Congregational Church was received at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cronquist, 3452 Massachusetts avenue, Tuesday evening with a potluck supper. A feature of the evening was a minstrel show presented by Messrs and Mmes. Bird Garrett, Walter Denlinger and Stanley Manard and Mmes. Leon Bond, D. Stalnaker, M. Morris and Cronquist.

MRS. FLORA NEAR
Memorial services for Mrs. Flora Near, 3284 Olive, were conducted at 1 o'clock this (Thursday) afternoon at Anderson-Erickson Mortuary by the Rev. Dan Apra. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Flora Near was born May 7, 1868, in Iowa. She came to Lemon Grove from Grand Junction, Colo., 22 years ago.

Mrs. Near was a member of First Congregational Church. Mrs. Near had been in local sanitariums since February of last year until two weeks ago when she was taken to a San Diego Hospital, where she passed away on Tuesday.

She is survived by a son, Dana Near, of La Mesa; a daughter, Mrs. Neva Beaulac, of San Francisco, three grandchildren, four great grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Minnie Nisbit of Long Beach and two sisters in the East.

ter of a century in the entertainment business.

After all, it wasn't until recently that this Emperor Danubian had either time or incentive to keep up with theatrical news. According to the record, he has spent a good deal of his adult life as amanuensis and assistant to various assistants, but nowhere do I find any mention of his having produced so much as a necktie—although, come to think of it, he did sell a few of them when he clerked in a London haberdashery during the war.

ACTUALLY, UNLESS he suffers from a slapsy-lapsy memory, Brother Bing was only kidding when he said, "Who dat?" The fact is that he's made two tries in recent years to strike up a nodding acquaintance with me—both of which left me nodding. Once in London and once in New York, he did his darnedest to fast-talk me into backing some party venture he was fronting for, and each time I shooed him off with the polite explanation that my policy was, "Neither a borrower nor a lender be."

There it is, of course, an outside chance that this joker no longer remembers trying to put the bite on me—in which event we're even because I didn't know who he was when the Met announced his appointment.

For a long time, I thought the Bing in question was Herman Bing, the baggy-pantsed Dutch comedian—who else would hire Flagstad and fire Melchior? Who else would substitute the grunt-and-groan German operas for the melodic Italian ones?

The final jest is rollicking Roddy's statement that "the problems of the Met will never be solved by Broadway methods." Maybe so, but it seems to me that this carpy contention doesn't quite jibe with his much publicized efforts to sign Garson Kanin, Margaret Webster, Danny Kaye and Oscar Hammerstein II. If any of these Times Square tots ever set foot or adenoids in La Scala, then I'm a monkey's uncle and Mr. Bing is as opera impresario.
